

Solo Welsh 3000 Trek Tracker Record

The data below is the tracking device record of the Welsh 3000 trek performed on 7-8th August 2014. The start point is Rhyd Ddu station car park and the finish Tal-y-Bont village. The tracker was set to report each position at 10 minute intervals. In reality, however, this time scale is only approximate and on occasions the device was unable to record a location due to the mountainous nature of the terrain. In addition the tracker will not report a position when stationary for any length of time. The device was located in my back pack and turned on some 13.4 miles from Rhyd Ddu due to the poor satellite signal experienced in that area. Each position reported by the GPS is in latitude and longitude form and requires converting to OS grid reference. I have included two extra columns on the sheet where the GPS coordinates have been converted to UK references for each of the key points of the route.

NB: The system can be considered accurate to within 100 metres of the precise location. Grid references therefore may not fully correspond with OS mapping coordinates.
